STATE AND COAST.

Clipped from our Exchanges Throughout the West.

About 500 cords of matchwood is awaiting shipment at Bandon.

The cannery at Alsea bay will put up nearly 10,000 cases this season.

Most of the sheep in Gilliam county, around Fossil, have been driven out of the mountains.

County Judge J. M. Chiles, of Josephine county, was fined recently $100 for buying a small piece of Josephine county scrip.

The Palace hotel in Heppner has been sold at public auction to William Penland for $10,000. The building and lots at one time cost $30,000.

The building used by Lincoln county as a courthouse is leased for a monthly rental of $20. A two-year lease has recently been made.

As the cannery at Marshfield was overstocked, the tug Triumph took over 2000 salmon from that place to the Coquille cannery last week.

Bluestem wheat, from Khekitat, is largely sought by buyers in The Dalles, and as high as 62 cents a bushel was paid there last Friday.

The new quartz mill machinery has all been put on the ground at the Black Butte mine, with the exception of one wheel, weighing 4500 pounds.

Benjamin L. Handley, who pleaded guilty to larceny from a warehouse in Grant county, last week, has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Last week, Lee Mitchell, while fishing near Grant's Pass, was bitten on the leg just below the knee by a large salmon. A painful but not a serious wound was inflicted.

N. McDonald has hauled from Salem and sold in Dallas this season 200 bushels of tomatoes, and 10,000 pounds of watermelons, all of which could have been raised in Polk.

City Marshal Logan, of Watson, insists that boys under 18 years of age must keep off the streets after 7 o'clock in the evening, and warns parents that he intends to enforce the curfew ordinance.

W. J. Vandervort, who has been remaining in the hills in the vicinity of Jacksonville, in a demented condition, was arrested last week, and after an examination, was adjudged insane and taken to the asylum.

The semi-annual report of the county clerk of Josephine county shows that there were, on September 30, outstanding unpaid warrants to the amount of $34,504 87, the estimated interest on which is $7000.

There passed through Athena last week a family that proposes making an entire trip to Florida by team. They make their expenses of the trip by giving musical performances, the entire family being musicians.

Sheriff Hlatt, of Josephine county, has gone to California to extradite Melsom, the man that is in jail at Del Norte, Cal., charged with the murder of Charles Perry. Melsom will be taken to Grant's Pass for trial.

The marshal and recorder of Lakeview, in looking over the books used during J. H. Ruggles' marshalship, find that he was not a defaulter, as reported, but had given receipts for taxes paid, and had failed to credit on the roll.

A. M. Simpson, owner of the North Bend mill, on Coos bay, addressed the citizens of Marshfield last Saturday, on "The Cause of Hard Times." Mr. Simpson is also largely interested in saw mills on Gray's and Willapa harbor, in Washington.

Friday night, October 2, a blind squaw living half a mile below Lennox stage station, in Klamath county, was fatally burned. She had been living in a shanty on Klamath river for the last five or six years, and was alone when the accident occurred.

The fishermen of Coos bay continue to make good catches of Chinooks, and a number of Silversides are also being caught. The Alert brought down a big lot of salmon from Coos river, Monday, and some of the boats in the lower bay nearly reached the hundred mark.

During the summer much improvement was made in the roads leading to Cottage Grove. The Moderator says about $20,000 has been expended on roads alone, leading to that place. Private subscriptions, together with county appropriations, made this possible.

The barns on Barry farm, north of North Yamhill, burned to the ground last Sunday afternoon. In the barns were about 12 tons of hay, 50 bushels of wheat, 20 bushels of cheat seed, and a seeder. The fire caught from a stubble field where they had been burning straw.

A South Sea island ram has been imported by the Baldwin Sheep & Land Co., and is now on the company's farm on Hay creek, Wasco county. The ram has as fine wool as any thoroughbred Merino, and the staple is fully 10 inches in length and as fine as silk.

Thursday the Pendleton woolen mills delivered to customers the first lot of blankets and Indian robes that the mills have turned out. The blankets have been inspected by men who are experts in such matters, and are said to be the best of their kind ever seen in Pendleton.

Scoggins valley has some notable hunters says the Forest Grove Hatchet. The first party brought down an elk and nine deer, the second, two elk and deer without number. The latest hunters from there walked from the Trask country and had to buy bacon on the way to live on.

While Mrs. Gamble, of Kentucky slough, in Coos county, was removing a kettle of boiling water from the stove, last week, her little son, Frank, aged 6 years, ran against her. The child was badly scalded on the face and chest. The burns, though serious, will not cause permanent injury.

The Willamette is so low at the falls at Oregon City, that the dam above the falls turns so nearly all the water into the basin on the south and the locks on the north that footmen can walk dry shod across the river on the brink of the falls below the dam. It is said that such a condition has not often existed in the history of the Willamette in the knowledge of white men.

It is now supposed that Cy Fitzhugh, the Joseph bank robber that escaped with the money, is in the vicinity of Lookout mountain. Two men of Enterprise who were after him, claimed to have tracked him to that section. They had to abandon the search on account of running out of provisions. The posse that left Enterprise last Thursday has not been heard from.

L. W. Covell, United States civil-service examiner, held an examination of applicants at the postoffice in Pendleton, last week. There were five candidates in Pendleton, three for the railway service, one stenographer and type writer and one compositor.

The candidates for the railway mail service are eligible for places in Oregon only, while the others are for the government service at Washington.

A bill for $909 75 was presented to the Benton county court, at its recent term, by ex-County Clerk Hunter, and the vouchers accompanying the bill indicates that during Mr. Hunter's incumbency that amount had been paid out by him for deputy hire. He desired to be reimbursed for the outlay, but the court concluded that Benton county was in no way responsible for the amount, and the bill was rejected. It is understood that Mr. Hunter proposes to institute legal proceedings to recover the claim.

Another Pioneer Gone.

Mr. Thos. Holt, an Oregon pioneer of 1847, died at the home of T. J. Butler, in this city, Friday evening of dropsy. He was born in Lancashire City, England, on April 5, 1815. For many years after coming to Oregon he lived near Jefferson, and built up a good reputation as a citizen and neighbor. Mr. Arthur Holt, the well known butcher of this city, is a son of the deceased.—Democrat.

Southern Oregon Mining Notes.

A $2800 gold brick was brought into Grant's Pass the other day by King and McComber from their William's creek mine, the Oregon Bonanza. The treasure was the result of crushing 27 tons of rock, and they netted over $100 to the ton.

The Rocky Gulch Mining Company has completed a new ditch a mile long, and will be ready to run a giant day and night this winter.

J. H. Hoehn is one of the miners of Rogue river that has been making wages with a rocker this summer on the river bars near Gallic creek. He says the rise in the river will drive him to the uplands near by, where the pay gravel is supposed to exist, but water is scarce in the dry season.

Green and Younglove will have their pipe in position on their Louse creek placer by the time fall rains set in. An 800-foot tunnel will have to be flumed and the finishing touches put on the reservoir.

Kremer & Kiessling are in 136 feet on their prospecting tunnel on Williams creek. This is a placer mine, but the owners see fit to thoroughly prospect the gravel before laying pipe and putting up a giant. A ditch tapping a neighboring creek has already been dug and this will furnish lots of water during the wet season. The ground thus far prospected proves rich in colors.

Linn County Horses.

At the state fair Linn county horses carried off some of the best honors. The following will show the facts:

- I. C. Mosher's Coeur D'Alene received 1st prize for standard bred trotters 4 years old; Mr. Mosher's Susie S, the second prize for brood mare 4 years old, and colt; Houston Bros. first premium for Percheron stallion 4 years old and over; Houston Bros., first premium for Clydesdale stallion 4 years old and over; Houston Bros., first premium on French and English coach stallion 4 years old and over; John Houston, first for draft horse of any age, pure blood, Corbett; Worth Huston, second, "Galloway;" Chas. Burkhardt, first for gelding roadster 4 years old and over.

High-Handed Outlawry.

The Crook County Journal gives the following account of a transaction that occurred in the South Fork Country, in Grant county: "Some sheep from the Mitchell country, moved in on territory which the cattle men say shall not be herded by sheep. One day last week, 14 armed men visited this trespassing band of sheep and one of the men, who was masked, relieved the herdar of his gun, at the same time giving him some pointers as to the advisability of his remaining in that section of the country if he placed any valuation on his life. The whole party then fired into the band of sheep, killing and wounding from 200 to 250 head, burned the camp outfit and departed; promising to return again if the sheep were in that locality at a given time."

A Poor Bank.

Henry Davis, living on Muddy, started to a social gathering Sunday night with some $140 on his person. He considered it too much money to carry with him and deposited it by a stump and covered it over with dirt. On returning, his money was gone and tracks much resembling those of a neighbor named Lundberg, were to be seen on the ground round about. Davis had Lundberg arrested, and instituted a search of the premises, but found no clue to the money and no evidence fixing guilt on Lundberg who was therefore released.—McMinnville T. R.

They Bungled Things.

The name of the republican vice presidential nominee will appear on the ticket in Oregon as J. G. Hobart, whereas his initials are G. A. It is all due to the bungling of George H. Williams, once attorney general of the U. S., president of the state convention, and S. B. Eakin, secretary. In each of four separate certificates they certified that his name was J. G. Hobart. Not only that, but the election would occur on Monday, Nov. 2. These mistakes are immaterial, the public voting merely for the electors.

New Conductor.

Sam Veatch, who has for several months been conductor on the Salem local, has been transferred to the "south end run" of the California overland, between Roseburg and Ashland, to take the place of Conductor Wall, who was discharged as a result of the serious Roseburg collision two weeks since. Ed. Elder, the well known railroad man, will act as conductor on the Salem cannon ball.—Salem Journal.

A Minister's Mistake.

The Eugene Guard tells it: "A prominent young minister of this city was standing in close proximity to two young men at the speaking this afternoon, when he suddenly missed his purse. Hastily jumping at the conclusion that the young men had picked his pockets, he seized both of them and called to Marshal Day who was near at hand. The young men were taken to headquarters but objected to being searched. Marshal Day retained the young men in custody while the minister went home to see if a search would reveal his purse there. He found it in another pair of jeans.

A Clubbing Offer.

A great many of our readers in Linn county like to take the Weekly Oregonian. We have made arrangements whereby we can furnish it at a reduction from the regular price to those who want both the Express and the Oregonian. The regular price of the Oregonian is $1.50 per year, and of the Express $1.50 when in advance. We will furnish both for $2. per year in advance, a saving of one dollar to the subscriber. The Oregonian gives all the general news of the country once a week, and the Express gives all the local news once a week, which will make a most excellent news service for the moderate sum of $2. per year. Those who are at present subscribers of the Express must pay in all arrears and one year in advance to obtain his special price.
